

NOTE: The [Change Order #2] submitted via email was not an official submittal, but rather a discussion of possibilities. Therefore, the submittal received on April 10, 2003 will remain named Change Order #2, rather than Change Order #3. AN

Hello Angela,

This email from Chuck describes the three communications from him with regard to changes in the plan.

As he says, the second change did not pan out and was not considered as a change order by Energy West.

So, can we renumber the communications in our records regarding Change Order numbers 2 and 3? Change No. 2 would just be considered a discussion of a possibility that didn't turn out. Change No.3 would now be considered Change Order Number 2 by the Division.

I will gladly help to decipher this.

Priscilla,
(I apologize for the delay)

To clarify the confusion concerning the number of the Phase 2 Change Orders:

* Change Order #1 - soil excavation near the cattle trail (approved & incorporated)

* The photo e-mailed on Feb. 6, 2003 (see below) was sent to show a possible soil source/blend area near the Hiawatha portal area. This not considered a change order by Energy West (within the current disturbed area).

[My Comments]

As shown on the following photo, the contractor was unable to remove/blend the colluvial material (photo taken on March 7, 2003).

* Change Order #2 - Bathhouse Pad Excavation (e-mailed on March 27, 2003).

Hopefully this helps set the confusion. If not please call.

Chuck
